Wins Over Ralph Yarborough by Wide Margin of Votes

Governor Allan Shivers was re-elected Saturday in a run-off campaign between himself and Ralph Yarborough of Austin. Shivers won by a majority of practically 100,000 in one of the hottest campaigns staged in Texas in recent years. The campaign was comparable to the run-off staged between Beuford Jester and Rainey, when the former won in the second primary.

Randall county went for Governor Shivers in the second primary by a larger majority than the county was carried in the July primary. In Saturday's vote, Yarborough did not carry a single box, but managed to tie the Governor in No. 6. Nos. 6 and 9 had gone for Yarborough in the July primary but Shivers carried the county in July by a vote of 2088 to 1631. Yarborough's vote declined in Randall county in the second primary while the Governor greatly improved his vote. Shivers received 2571 to 1477 for his opponent.

Dollar Day Is Your Value Day

Before you start looking for better bargains better check at home. Dollar Day is coming up Friday and that means a lot of wonderful values being offered throughout town.

This Dollar Day is one of particular interest to most of the people as many "Back-To-School Values" will be featured. Another thing people can look forward to is their autumn entertaining needs and get them now at a savings. Whether you're looking for clothing, hardware, knick-knacks or office supplies, be sure and check Dollar Day Specials.

Although Dollar Day values had been tried before in Canyon and dropped after a period of time, this time it looks as if the practice is here to stay. Today's Dollar Day program was started last year. Even though it has had its setbacks, it has continued and is growing in popularity as it grows older. When looking for values check Canyon first, especially on Dollar Days.

Monday's Shower Covers Small Area of County

Another light shower fell in Canyon Monday evening, bringing .30 of an inch of moisture. The rain did not reach to all parts of Randall county, but the shower was heavier to the west and to the north of Canyon.

Rains have fallen consistently during the month at regular intervals, but the amounts have been very light in Canyon, with one exception when a good rain was received on August 22. The rains will develop some of the dryland maize crop in spite of the continued dry weather.

Rain in Canyon during August totaled 2.88 inches, which brings a total of 12.27 inches for the year.

Sidelights of The Election

(Editorial Comments)

Ralph Yarborough condemned the newspapers of Texas for supporting Governor Shivers. He had previously charged that Shivers was buying the influence of the newspapers. He overlooked the fact that he had placed only two small ads in the weekly newspapers, while the Shivers campaign headquarters had bought liberal space.

After all was said and done, Yarborough was defeated from the fact that he had refused to advertise, but had spent vast sums for radio and television time. Wonder if Yarborough realizes now that busy people do not keep their ears tuned to the radio and television all the time wondering what is coming on next?

The News soon found that in spite of the way Randall county voters flocked to the polls Saturday, they were not interested in looking at the bulletin board. Only a few persons gathered to see the returns.

While the Newsman has always been a follower of Governor Shivers, we lacked some of the confidence of some of the Shivers group. One fellow offered to wager any amount of money that Shivers would win by 65,000 votes. We were not so hopeful.

We are of the opinion that both Governor Shivers and Ralph Yarborough were running their last political race in Texas following the heat of the Saturday's vote. The Governor showed very clearly that the people are not afraid of a third term; or are afraid of the fact that the Governor supported a Republican in the last presidential campaign; but the mud spread by Yarborough will not be washed off so easily as Shivers may think in this flush of victory.

Ralph Yarborough should have found out that immaterial issues are not so easily and quickly accepted by the voters as he thought when this campaign started. His ambitions to be Governor were thwarted by the fact that he so quickly grabbed every little issue which stuck its head above water, and he swallowed all of the trash which went floating down the political stream. The fact that Yarborough was content to stir up issues, which should never have been answered, but completely ignored by the Governor, brought out the votes.

The voters of Texas knew that a good name was being defamed and they resented the accusation.

The Canyon News was the only weekly newspaper published in a county seat town of Texas which carried no Yarborough advertising during the final days of the campaign. Was there a Yarborough organization in Canyon? If so, it surely was quiet and inactive.

If there was such an organization, perhaps the Yarborough followers felt that they represented a minority group and should save their money for legitimate advertising.

We still wonder if Yarborough still thinks—if he ever did think—that the newspaper men of Texas are such a lot of ignorant chaps simply because they failed to support his candidacy?

The newspaper publishers are not such a bunch of boneheads as Yarborough would lead you to believe. Publishers of 600 weekly papers and 100 daily papers were fighting for the freedom of which Ralph Yarborough would deny them.

After all is said and done, it was a grand and glorious fight. Texas will not be sunk simply because Governor Shivers defied the old time politicians to run for a third term; or gave Adlai Stevenson a swift kick in the pants for refusing to acknowledge the rights of Texas to the tidelands; or all the other accusations which Yarborough hurled at the Governor. We are expecting to see Governor Shivers perform the duties of his office in a steadfast, fearless manner during the coming two years; with no attempt to reward his friends or punish his foes.

Boys Ranch To Stage Rodeo On Labor Day

The 10th Annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo which will be held at Boys' Ranch on Labor Day, September 6, will feature the youngest riders ever seen in a full-fledged rodeo.

Youngsters from 5 to 10, representing every corner of the nation, will mount calves and bucking Shetlands to ride for points and prizes.

Every year, the little Ranchers have stolen the show with their fast, furious, but sometimes all-too-short rides. At the Ranch on Labor Day at 2:30 o'clock, the peanut cowpokes will compete with their older brothers for the title of Best All-Around Cowboy.

Last year, John Gannis, 7, of Nurenberg, Germany, took second place in his division and this year his little brother Steve, 6, will be giving him plenty of stiff competition.

As special attractions, Hoyt Hefner, world-famous rodeo clown, and the Amarillo All-Girl Mounted Quadrille will take part in the rodeo.

This year, it will not be necessary to ford the Canadian River to get to Boys' Ranch because the bridge will be opened for traffic. Tickets will be sold at the entrance to the Ranch on the day of the rodeo. Adults $1.25 and children 75 cents.

On his way home, arrangements have been made for Pierre to visit Washington, D. C., and a few days in New York City. He will sail for Le Harve on Sept. 14 together with 50 exchange students who have been spending the past eight weeks in various states in the Union. One other young man is a guest of the Rotary Club at Houston.

Pierre is speaking to the Kiwanis Club in Vega today, the guest of Rev. Jim Pickens.

Radio Station in Sheriff's Office Now in Operation

The radio station in Sheriff L. S. Johnston's office was put into operation Friday afternoon for the first time. Early Saturday morning Sheriff Johnston was on the air with some test messages.

"We're not on a 24-hour basis yet but hope to be by next week," the sheriff said Saturday. At that time the call letters for the station had not been received but were expected sometime this week. The sheriff said Curtis Samples would operate the radio station during the day and there would be two night men taking turns at operating.

Johnston explained that a number of advantages were enjoyed. One is the fact that the sheriff's office and fire department are now reached through the same telephone number. Fireman can send and receive instructions by using the radio which will make their department more efficient.

The station will also help coordinate the work of all police authorities which will form a tight network or police protection against crime. This will help authorities apprehend criminals more quickly. The game warden also has access to the radio which will help him tremendously in his duties.

The sheriff pointed out that Deputy Sheriff Lem Pounds' official car in Amarillo is equipped with two radios. One is hooked up with the Amarillo radio station while the other is on the sheriff's radio station here.

The sheriff's office has been remodeled in order to make a convenient spot for the radio station. The garage portion of the office has been converted into an office and a studio for the radio station.

Johnston said credit for the improvements would go to the County Judge and Commissioners Court. Less than two months ago they approved the radio station. Today the radio station is in operation and the results of it are summed up in Sheriff Johnston's own words, "This action has resulted in a more efficient Sheriff's office."

French Take a Mighty Blow At Defense of Their Nation

It seems, from reading the papers, that France has killed the North Atlantic pact, and glories in the defeat of this achievement as well as the failure of her troops in Indochina.

As a visiting Frenchman puts it: "The farmers of France believe that America is not giving them enough."

Yes, indeed. Uncle Sam has been pictured as Shilock for such a long time that we are easy prey. We are pictured as rolling in weath, and together with a fat pocketbook are easy prey.

Not all people in Europe feel that way about us to be sure. But the commies have played on their minds and their sympathy. The commies have played a smooth hand in picturing Uncle Sam as a glutton who wants to control the world.

The commies have promised great things for the people if only they will follow. As a result, Russia has gained most of Europe and Asia without shedding a drop of Russian blood.

Now then, this probably is the wrong way to do it, but we are mad enough to tell Uncle Sam to withdraw all aid and all troops from every country, and to get back on American soil. Of course that is exactly what the commies want, but if foreign nations think that they can play a game with the commies, just leave them go to it. Before many moons they will be sick and tired of their bargains and will be on bended knee asking for help.

America has sent sent troops three times to foreign lands within this area. Haven't we done just about enough to save the world? And is the world worth saving under such conditions?

This probably sounds like isolationism doctrine, but we have heard enough of this stuff to do us for a lifetime.

Marshall Formby Is Worried: But So Are We at His Demands

We were somewhat amazed when Marshall Formby came out strong against Ralph Yarborough for making such wild promises on highway funds.

It looks to us like someone in Austin should take somewhat of an interest in what the State Highway Commission was doing with highway money. We agree with Formby that Yarborough was making a wild attempt to bribe his way into public office when he made such rash promises of highway building.

Just what we object to about Marshall Formby is the fact that he seems to have something against Randall county. He said that he would never vote for less than a 300 foot expressway between Canyon and Amarillo. He approves the idea of Randall county furnishing a 250 foot highway between Canyon and Happy, and the same width to the west of Canyon.

At the same time the State is building a new highway between Happy and Tulia on less than 200 feet.

Why is Marshall Formby so radically opposed to having narrower highway right-of-ways in Randall county?

Is there somewhat of politics connected with his ideas?

Does he represent the feelings which exist in Austin on highway construction? If he does, where is all this money coming from?

Let's be consistent!

Oil Was Discussed in Senate By Daniel During Closing Days

Senator Price Daniel is an apt pupil of General Ernest O. Thompson. He is making a deep study of the problems of oil throughout the world. His speech in Congress just before adjournment was magnificent.

Senator Daniel announced that he was placing in the hands of President Eisenhower all of the information which he had on the subject of oil, including letters and charts furnished him by General Thompson.

General Thompson is of the opinion that one of these days the United States will need all of the world's available oil supply. He would regret having any oil field controlled by the commies. He does not discuss the failure of France to live up to her obligations.

Senator Daniel goes into the question of imports of oil, as does General Thompson. Both are opposed to allowing free imports of foreign oil, and the remarks of the Senator are somewhat made covering this problem.

We wish that we had made a more thorough study of oil but it is more or less Greek to us.

Litter Collection Takes Too Much Time of Entire Nation

"The National Council of State Garden Clubs" is a high sounding name.

We received a two page letter from this organization the other day, but the writer of the letter failed to ask for money. Why? Will that come later?

The program of the club is impressive. It is something that every citizen should be in favor of, and work diligently to see that it is carried out.

Here are the three points:

1. To create a public awareness of litter and of the individual's responsibility for it.
2. To stimulate widespread public participation in cleaning up existing litter.
3. To prevent future litter by a combination of education, public opinion pressure and law enforcement.

Should these objectives be carried out, Randall county would be a much more attractive place in which to live.

We recall that only a few months ago a highway supervisor living in Canyon, remarked that if people would stop throwing empty beer cans on the highways he could get needed repair work done. It took more than half of the time of his crew to pick up beer cans.

Let's be more cautious and more careful of trash and litter.

Smear tactics have certainly reached a new high in ordinary political and publicity proceedings.

Flattery is one way some people pave the walkway of life, but it often costs more than it is worth.

Who Will Be Elected as the Governor of Texas Saturday?

Since this is written on Wednesday afternoon before the election, we predict that whomever is elected Governor of Texas will have no rosy time during the coming two years. The people of Texas have been smeared so much with mud during the campaign that real issues have been neglected and overlooked.

We are glad for one thing that both candidates are from the same church in Austin. That being the case, the cynic will look upon their campaign as a revelation of the weakness of this denomination and will ask, "What manner of men are they in this denomination?"

Fortunately for the people of Texas, not all of the members of this church have reached to the depth of the slum pit and have been dragged into politics. We are quite sure that the average run of the mill in Canyon regrets that this campaign has not been staged on higher ground.

Those who feel that the churches of Texas are to blame, just look at the heavy vote which this campaign brought out. Not even the President of the United States could command such a following as the absentee vote indicates that the people will turn out on Saturday.

While some folks may be disgusted and say that "Never again," the average run of people in Texas like to see the candidates pour it on.

One thing is very evident: If the Shivers group had been as hard at work over the state, and spent as much money, time and effort during the first campaign as they put into the run-off, the Governor could easily have won on July 24.

We are not predicting the outcome for Saturday, but we cannot keep from hopefully looking for a Shivers victory on Saturday in spite of all the mud which has been thrown at him and all of the inconsequental statements which have been made.

Are the People of America Too Rich For Our Own Good?

Are the people of America too prosperous for our own good?

Must we divide our wealth with others in order that we may live peacefully in the world of struggling humanity?

Supposing we should decide all of a sudden that America was too prosperous and that we should divide what we have, just how long would the poor have any more than they now have, or would the rich gobble up the dividend?

Is the wealth of America equally divided, or is it in the hands of a few?

America has been accused of having more than the world's share of riches. Even the churchmen who are our guests in Illinois look over our bounty and shake their heads in wonderment.

Visitors who come from war torn Europe are amazed at the wealth of America and the standard of living of our people.

Stalin said that he was going to make us spend ourselves into bankruptcy. He left the machinery for such a program.

These are a few questions which arise as we see conditions arising in this Texas; in these United States; in this world of ours today.

They are sure above the heads of this average country newspaper man.

What About This Old Age Business; Records of Aged

If you are past 65 and have concluded that you are too old to learn new tricks or to compete with younger men and women in the arts and sciences, business, agriculture or community leadership, forget it.

History is full of cases of folks who have stayed gingery and productive until the late 90's.

Booth Tarkington wrote 16 novels after 60—some of them when he was almost totally blind.

George Santayana said at 82, "I have never been happier in my life than right now."

Michelangelo painted the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel on his back on a scaffold at near 90.

Auber wrote his "Dream of Love" in his 80's, and said, "I'm not 80. I am four times 20."

Of Benjamin Franklin, Walter B. Pitkin said: "Men have forgotten the first half of his life. The world will never forget the second." Franklin went to France in the service of his country at 78. He wrote his autobiography at over 80.

Paderewski at 79 played the piano superbly before large audiences.

At 88, John Wesley preached every day.

Tennyson published "Crossing the Bar" at 83.

At 35 you are already old . . . if you feel it is too late to achieve.

At 80 you are young . . . if you are interested in life, people, and service.

Some Errors Creep Into Every Publication—Regardless Care

Some errors creep into all publications, which publishers regret, but cannot help. It reminds us that a reader complained to Mark Twain that errors were found in the newspaper he was editing. Old Mark replied: "Yet we make mistakes and occasionally a spider gets caught in our paper. This we cannot prevent. The errors are human; the spiders come to look over the ads and when he finds a business firm not advertising he knows where he can safely weave his web, right across the door."

It is said that anyone can be an editor. All an editor has to do is to sit at his desk six days a week, four weeks in the month and 12 months in the year and criticise such stuff as this:

Druggist J. S. Johnson let a can opener slip last week and cut himself in the pantry.

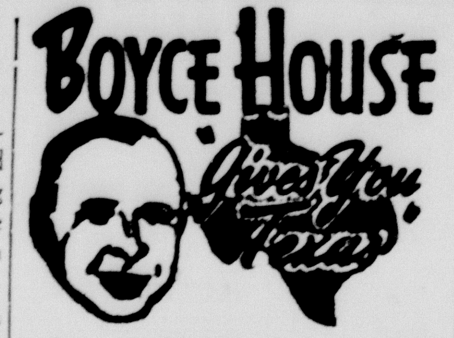
Our local insurance man climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch.

While our bank cashier was escorting Hettie Green home from a social Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Billy on the public square.

Major Phillips, the popular druggist of Central Square, was playing with a cat when it scratched him on the veranda.

Mr. Ansell of the Eagle Pharmacy, while harnessing a horse last week, was kicked just south of the corn crib.

Your best friend is the person who tells you the truth, not the one who tells you what you want to hear.



One of the greatest men who ever lived, Robert E. Lee, once said, "Duty is the sublimest word in the English language" — and that gives us the guiding principle of his life.

Perhaps you would be interested in something about the days that Robert E. Lee spent in Texas. In the war between the United States and Mexico, he had charge of building bridges so an army could get from San Antonio to Fort Brown, down at Brownsville. When your columnist visited Brownsville a good many years ago, citizens pointed out an old house as one where Lee and U. S. Grant had attended a social affair.

After the War with Mexico, in which Lee played a distinguished part, he was sent to Texas in 1856 as lieutenant colonel of the Second Cavalry. Upon arriving in San Antonio, he was assigned by Col. Albert Sidney Johnston to the command of two squadrons at Camp Cooper, 170 miles north of Fort Mason. There were no buildings at Camp Cooper and he slept in a tent.

The little child of a soldier died and the private asked Colonel Lee to conduct the funeral service, which the commanding officer did.

His fiftieth birthday he spent at Fort Brown and, on the eve of a severely cold Easter, he was at Fort Mason and arose during the night to try to protect his horses from the harsh weather. Christmas Day of 1856 he spent at Fort Brown, far from his family in Virginia. He bought presents at the little shops for all the children in the garrison. A Christmas present for himself that he prized highly was a bundle of Virginia newspapers that arrived at Brownsville by steamer, the newest issue being only three weeks old!

After spending 19 months in Texas, Colonel Lee returned to Virginia but in 1860 he came back to assume command of the Department of Texas, landing at the now-vanished port of Indianola and proceeding to San Antonio. It was here that, when the clouds of discord were gathering over the nation and the Southern States were about to secede. He reached the decision that led to his assignment with the Southern cause. He said that his first obligation was to his own state of Virginia. In the Gunter Hotel there is a bronze tablet in the lobby marking the spot where Lee lived while in San Antonio. In Fredericksburg, they tell you proudly that he slept in the famous old Nimitz Hotel, founded by an ancestor of Texas' own Admiral Nimitz.

When Lee was serving on the frontier of Texas, snakes, wolves, buffalo, mustangs and Indians abounded. Frank Potter of Fort Worth, United States District Attorney, somewhere came across the story that near the present City of Fort Worth, Lee was on his horse, motionless, one day when another officer came up and asked, "What are you doing, Colonel?" Lee replied, "I am listening to the tread of the millions that are to come."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

An editor of a newspaper was having trouble in raising circulation of his publication and suddenly hit upon a scheme. He started a contest by giving a year's subscription for the largest potato raised in the county.

Some time later he was asked if he boosted his circulation any by the potato contest.

"Well, I don't know," grinned the editor in reply, "but I'm all set for the winter."

"What do you mean?" asked the puzzled friend.

"Well, I don't have to worry about potatoes," answered the editors. "Down in the basement I've got 15 barrels of samples."

What Was This Call Worth?

"Mommy, can I stay at grandmother's tonight?" That was little Carol's very first telephone call — a real thrill that can hardly be measured in dollars and cents. Yet, Mrs. Caroline Niemeyer, Carol's grandmother, can tell you what that call cost. She is one of a group of customers who kept day-by-day records of calls made for a week — a total of 30 calls covering 133 miles. Then she broke her telephone bill down into the actual cost per call. "I was amazed," she reported, "at how little my telephone service cost for all the convenience and happiness it delivers." SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY . . . Seven "Film-Coated" Ingredients Offer Positive Relief

The crippling, torturing, twisting pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism may soon be forgotten, thanks to an exciting new labratory discovery named Ar-Pan-Ex.

Ar-Pan-Ex was perfected by a noted scientist of a world-famed university, working with all known facts about these crippling ailments. The result is a safe, easy to take tablet that promotes the fastest relief known from that stabbing agony.

Ar-Pan-Ex is compounded of seven active ingredients including a special new medicine to help provide longer lasting relief. Ar-Pan-Ex exclusively perfected to curb chronic, deep-seated pains.

Why AR-PAN-EX Helps

Ar-Pan-Ex does not dissolve uselessly in the stomach—avoids stomach distress. Ar-Pan-Ex is scientifically "Film-Coated" so that ALL the powerful, pain-relieving medicine is released only in the small intestine where it can be quickly carried by the blood stream to every pain-wracked muscle joint and nerve. Swelling, stiffness and soreness may seem to be miraculously eased when Ar-Pan-Ex helps the system throw off excess Uric Acid that can also aggravate pains.

Nothing Like AR-PAN-EX

Nothing ever offered before can bring results faster, more effectively or with longer lasting benefits than Ar-Pan-Ex. It may mean a renewed life of usefulness and pleasure to millions.

Ask for genuine Ar-Pan-Ex today at any drug store for the kind of relief no other product can claim to equal. If your druggist is out of it, he will be glad to order it for you.

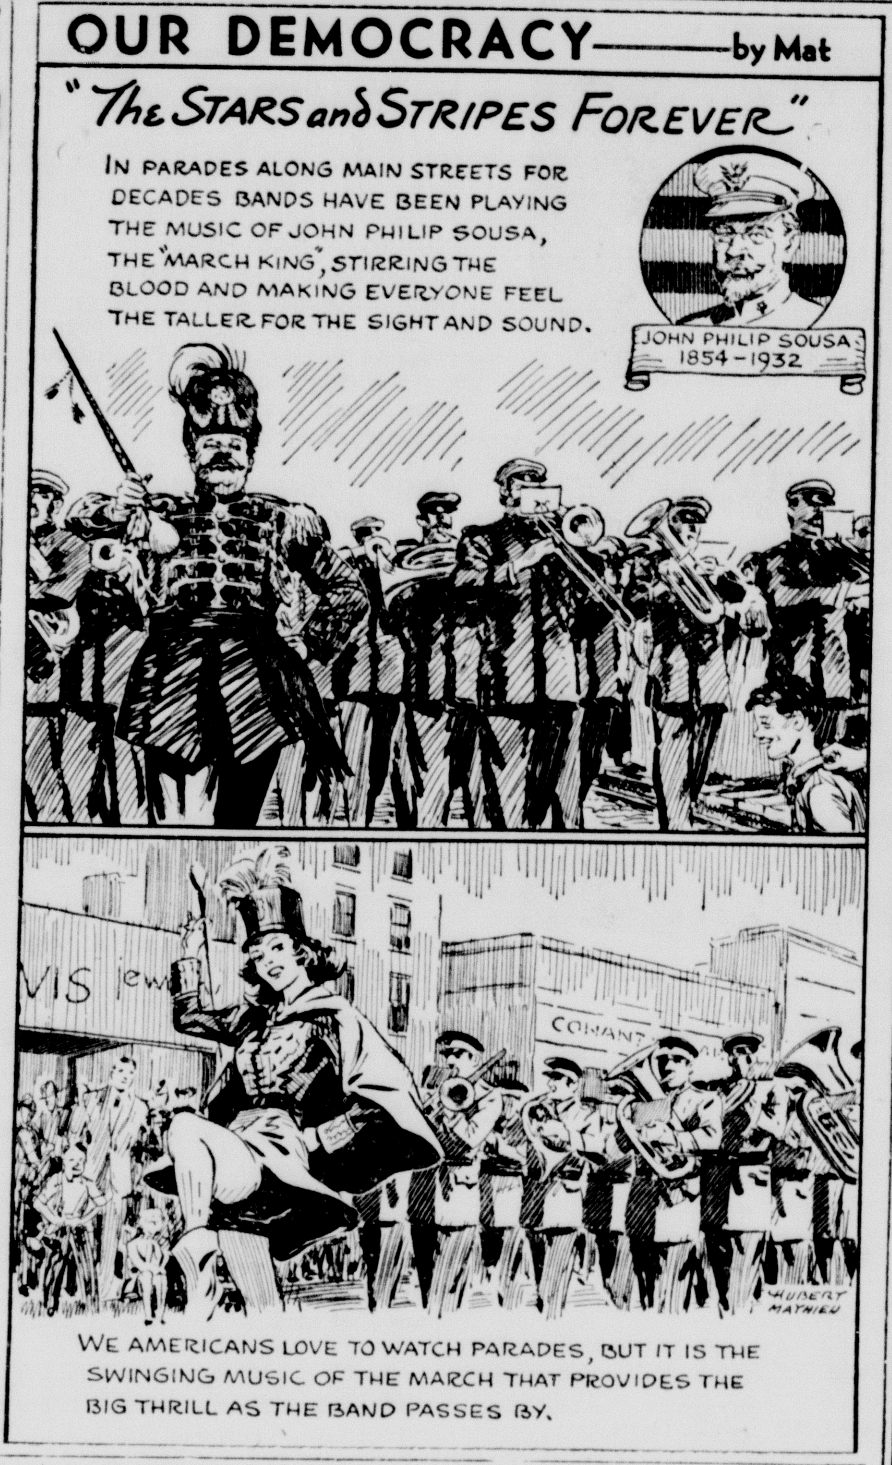
CORPORATE PROFITS

Corporate profits of manufacturers before taxes dropped 23 per cent in the first quarter if this year from figures for the similar 1953 period. Profits, after taxes, however, were only 9 per cent lower.

WHOLESALE SALES

The Government announcement of an increase in sales of wholesalers in June and May, coupled with the improvement in the sales and inventory figures on durable goods, has encouraged students of the nation's economy.



QUEER OKRA!

Last week Mrs. Patriel Parker of Happy, formerly of Canyon, brought to The News office okra that measured 30½ inches.

The force was skeptical over the vegetable as being okra. In appearance it looked more like a cucumber or a gourd than any okra we had ever seen.

Then this developed: The seed were brought from Japan. This variety grows on a vine. Mrs. Parker has had several pods this large and has more on the vine. She cooks and serves it just as we do our ordinary okra.

NATION'S BUSINESS

Industrial activity in July was sustained by the heavy rate of building construction and consumer-buying at the retail level. Stock prices continued to reflect the step-up of the cold war and better corporation earnings made possible by lower Federal taxes. Department store sales reported by the Federal Reserve Bank showed an over-all increase of 1 per cent in the week ended on July 24, compared with a year ago.

NEW CONSTRUCTION

The Commerce Department reports that new construction has risen seasonally and that the seasonally adjusted total of $18,100,000,000 for the first half of the year is the largest ever recorded for a similar period and 2 per cent above what it was a year ago. Private construction amounting to $2,200,000,000 in June was the largest for that month, and public construction in June totaling $1,100,000,000 also set a record.

BOYS FIND MONEY

Newark, N. J. — Eight boys, playing in a vacant lot, found several bags of silver and began to spend the money like water at an amusement park. One parent, becoming suspicious of the unlimited supply of quarters her boy possessed, called police. Detectives talked to the boys, who led them to four bags of silver, containing $981.65, stored between a bees' nest and a wasps' nest "to keep thieves away." The "treasure" is thought to be part of $3,000 which had disappeared from a Trenton (N.J.) vending machine firm along with one of the firm's employees.

PESTS WORK IN SHIFTS

CLIFTON, Ill. — Art Hansen's 40-acre field of corn is ruined. Cutworms, working around the clock, did the damage. The glossy worms chewed away at the corn during the night and another species — the black cutworm — took over the day shift.

STUDEBAKER CORPORATION

Studebaker Corporation, which showed a more than $8,000,000 loss for the first six months of this year, terminated a wage contract with its employes. The employes had refused a proposal for a pay cut.

Although farm prices have fallen 20 per cent since 1951, retail consumers have derived no benefit, a House committee staff report recently declared.

The N.L.R.B., in a 3-to-2 ruling, threw out the long-standing rule prohibiting employers from questioning workers about union affiliation or activities.

OUT; IN AGAIN

BALTIMORE, Md. — George William Mack was just leaving the jail after four and half years of a six-year term of burglary. The usual routine shakedown search was performed and Mack gathered up his few belongings and prepared to leave. Excusing himself, for a moment, he dashed to the basement and returned with a small bundle he said he had almost forgotten. In it, officers found First Sergeant Champ Zumbrun's gold watch and cigarette lighter. Mack was promptly charged with larceny and again lodged in jail.

TRUTH

Truth is not a mere commodity to be used by sovereign individuals for their own self-chosen interests. Truth is a sovereign which has to be served in order to be possessed. When Pilate asked Jesus, "What is truth?" the Master did not deign to answer. Why try to explain truth to Pilate? He would not have followed it if he had seen it. He was merely a politician looking for an expedient way out of a predicament. If we would understand the truth, we must be willing to follow where it leads.

INSECURITY

A lot of people these days are picking on other people. Criticism of people and institutions seems to be more frequent than normally. We hear criticisms of the schools, government, profits, methods of preparing teachers, churches, athletics, etc. Some of this is doubtless deserved but why the volume of it? Can it be that world conditions have caused people to feel insecure? And since they are unable to strike at the real causes of their insecurity why do people relieve themselves by picking on each other?

SINGS AT OWN WEDDING

PRATT, Kans. — At the insistence of his fiancee, Paul Crabb, who has a fine bass voice, sang at his own wedding. His bride-to-be, Miss Mary Ann McNamee, insisted that he sing "I Love Thee" and "Always" before marching to the altar. He did.

News In Canyon 25 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of The Canyon News of August 29, 1929)

Announcement was made that the registered Hereford herd of the C. O. Keiser estate would be sold at public auction in November.

Robert Donald, member of the West Texas State faculty, died suddenly on the operating table in an Amarillo hospital while his tonsils were being removed. He had closed the summer school's work of the college the previous day.

Miss Carol Rule and Flanigan Smith were married.

Three car wrecks with only one person injured was an unusual situation.

Work was started building the Little House of Fellowship.

A. H. Elliston will move to Canyon from Hereford in the near future because of the fine water supply.

Prevention Is Work of Health Department

AUSTIN: Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health officer, in outlining the duties of the Texas State Department of Health, said in a statement recently that public health programs are designed to benefit all the people.

"In an effort to prevent disease," Dr. Holle said, "the Texas State Health Department carries on an educational program informing the public as to how they can secure protection by vaccination against smallpox, typhoid fever, and immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus; by investigating sources of disease outbreaks; by isolating those ill with communicable diseases; inspection of water supplies; advocating the production and use of safe milk to prevent the occurrence of milk borne diseases and many other services to the public."

Dr. Holle said that in spite of preventive measures, people will become ill and accidents will happen. In general, the cure of sickness in the individual and the repair of accidents fall within the scope of the duties of the private practitioner of medicine and surgery. "Of course," he said, "the private practitioner of medicine is also engaged in prevention of disease when he advises mothers to have their children and family protected against those diseases for which there is a known preventive."

The general practitioner and the State Department of Health both advocate that it is better to remain healthy than it is to recover from an illness, but the State Health Department is engaged in the prevention and control of disease as it affects the general population of a community or state.

Otto John, head of the security organization in West Germany, who defected to the Communist side, definitely is set down now as a double agent who had been serving both the Communists and the non-Communists. Double agents pose a serious problem in the spy business.

The Commerce Department reported that the 1953 output of goods and services in this country had totaled $365,000,000,000.

It is incumbent upon every person of every description to contribute to his country's welfare. —Washington

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Current Federal Trade Commission investigations into couponing practices, brings up interesting question which may require Justice Department action.

* * *

The question: "Are big corporations using coupons to wreck independent manufacturers, violating laws regarding issuance of money?".

* * *

C.W. Harder

The U.S. Constitution is specific on this matter, some claim.

* * *

Section 8 provides Congress shall have power to coin money, to regulate value, and to regulate value of foreign coins. Section 10 prohibits states from coining money, or making anything but gold and silver legal tender.

* * *

In other words, no sovereign state can demand, for example, its citizens to accept shoe buttons or any other item, in exchange for goods and services. It must be in legal tender prescribed by Congress.

* * *

Thus it now appears to many that some corporations are operating as super-sovereignty exceeding power of any state.

* * *

While coupons are not claimed to be currency but merely an offer to pay, it is being found in actual practice they have the full force and effect of currency.

* * *

A housewife receives a coupon that tells her to take it to her grocer, buy the product being pushed, and the grocer will knock ten cents or some other amount off the price.

* * *

The grocer can legally refuse to honor the coupon. If he refused a genuine U. S. dime for a dime article, he could be deprived of his ability but while refusal to accept the coupon will not deprive him of his liberty, it will deprive him of patronage.

* * *

But law interpretation is often based on actual practice as well as technical wording. In this case, through actual practice, coupon issuing corporations are exercising right of printing currency, which is restricted to Congress

* * *

Many housewives do not read or understand fine print on coupons. Many save coupons until they have around a dollars worth, and on their next trip to the grocer, use them as currency, because in their minds they accept in good faith that coupons have a definite monetary value.

* * *

So with all good conscience, and with good faith, the housewife literally blackjacks the independent grocer into accepting these coupons, regardless of whether he handles some of the products, or whether or not the coupons have expired. He cannot afford to antagonize customers, so same compulsion exists as if grocer were handed lawful currency, even though he never collects from the corporation.

* * *

The chains do not have this problem. If coupons are obsolete, or for any other reason not acceptable to the corporation if turned in by an independent grocer, a big chain, by virtue of its mass buying from the corporation, compels the corporation to accept coupons. Again, element of compulsion enters.

* * *

So coupons, which from a technical legalistic standpoint are bogus currency, become through the elements of practice and compulsion, as valid as legal tender. The only difference is that while independent grocers are compelled to accept them as offered in good faith, they lack the power to compel redemption by the issuing corporation.

FOUL BALL

Bride: "Who is the man in the blue coat, darling?"

Groom: "That's the umpire, dear."

Bride: "Why does he wear that funny wire thing over his face?"

Groom: "To keep him from biting the ball players, precious."

KEY OF GEE NO DOUBT

"Dad, wasn't that exquisite?" asked the bobbysoxer at the end of a jive number. "Did you ever hear anything like it?"

"I can't say I have, unless it was the time my car hit a truck loaded with empty milk cans, and he glanced off into a wagon full of live ducks."

Tyler Dennett, educator: "The purpose of a college is to teach life, to teach living."

A "SOFT LINE"

Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith predicts that the Communists will follow a "soft line" to lull the Free World into a sense of false security and seek, by subversion, infiltration and propaganda, to reach goals hitherto sought by force. The Reds, he insists, must be resisted by economic, political and social help, as well as by military aid.

PHILANTHROPHY

Gifts and bequests of $1,000 or more in ten large city areas of this country totaled $374,960,710 for the first six months of this year. During the same period in 1953, the total was $247,479,097.

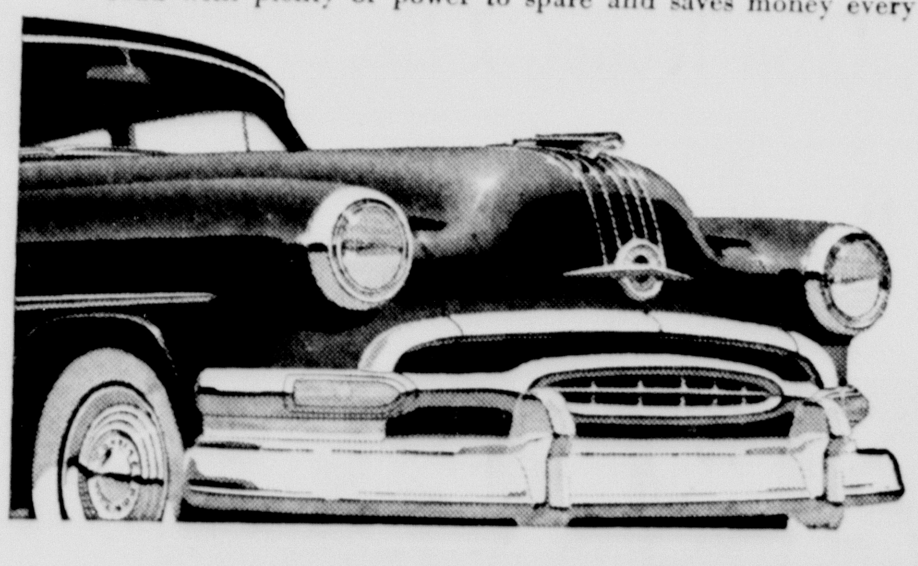
4 Important Reasons why you should buy a PONTIAC RIGHT NOW!

1 Pontiac is One of the Greatest Cars Ever Built!

Match today's Pontiac with America's finest cars and you'll get a dramatic picture of Pontiac value. First of all, Pontiac is big—bigger, in fact, than many cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Pontiac is beautiful—with its distinctive Silver Streak styling. Inside, you'll find genuine fine-car luxury and appointments—along with the roominess and comfort that come only with a long wheelbase. But the big surprise comes when you test Pontiac's performance. See how alert it is to every demand in traffic, how it handles and corners almost without effort, how it takes to the open road with plenty of power to spare and saves money every mile.



2 Pontiac has the Best Resale Value in its Price Class!

Along with all its fine-car size, luxury and performance, Pontiac has a very special attribute no car at any price can beat—its unsurpassed reputation for year-in, year-out dependability. Pontiac's carefree, economical long life and its proved record of amazingly low maintenance expense are so widely known and acknowledged that it commands the highest resale value in its price class. Because Pontiac is America's most desirable used car, your original investment comes back in greater measure when you trade.

3 Pontiac is Priced Just Above the Lowest!

After you've convinced yourself of Pontiac's value, after you've considered all the good things you've heard about its dependability—see how it compares dollar-wise. Despite the fact that it's a fine car in every sense of the term, Pontiac is priced so near the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac.

4 We'll Make You a Deal You Can't Afford to Miss!

Right now we're making such liberal trade-in allowances that you just can't afford to pass up the greatest opportunity you ever had to become a fine-car owner. Come in and get the facts.

POLIO

There were 1,171 new cases of polio reported in the nation during the week ended July 24th, bringing the total for the year to 7,689, compared with 8,214 to the same date last year. Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis found "little solace" in this comparison, since last year was the third worst year on record.

YOUTH CRIME

Juvenile delinquency in the City of New York has increased 17.2 per cent during the first six months of this year, as compared with the same period in 1953. This reflects a similar rise in crimes committed by young people all over the nation.

NO "MUNICH"

Under-Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, on his return to this country from Geneva, stated that while this country "does not like" some of the terms of the Indochina truce agreement, it was not "another Munich."

Rules of the Road Should Be Familiar

With the death-laden Labor Day week-end and the usual series of football week-ends coming up, the thoughts of many Texans are turning toward traffic safety. There can be no doubt but that a better acquaintance among drivers with the "rules of the road" and other traffic safety regulations could greatly reduce the death toll of our highways.

To obtain correct and authoritative information about driving is a simple matter. A letter or postcard to the Department of Public Safety, Driver's License Division, Austin, will bring an official publication, the "Texas Driving Handbook," to anyone who requests it.

Aside from considerations of personal safety, proper driving habits and observance of traffic laws will help prevent financial loss. This is true in spite of the fact that most people now carry liability insurance as a protection under the Texas "Drivers Responsibility Act." Jury verdicts in personal injury cases tend to go higher and higher, and the likelihood of suffering an adverse judgment for an amount in excess of the limits of your liability policy is ever present.

Fault, or liability, is determined by applying the law to the particular facts of an accident. In Texas the law is in several forms —the statutes as enacted by the Legislature, the ordinances of each city and town, and the court decisions in cases similar to the one to be decided.

A negligent or intentional act is necessary in order to impose legal liability for damage. Where both parties to an accident are negligent, the court will very likely say that both are at fault, and that each must pay for his own damages.

Two of the most important legal rules pertaining to accidents are those having to do with "proper look-out" and "proper control." Driving in a lawful manner and complying with all ordinary traffic rules is not always sufficient. In addition, the driver is expected by law to be alert to all that is happening around him.

If an accident should occur and the driver has not been alert—has failed to keep a proper look-out—he may be charged with "improper look-out" as a traffic violation and also held liable in damages to the other driver. The courts call a "proper look-out" such a look'out as a reasonably prudent driver would have kept under the same circumstances.

Of equal importance is the rule of "proper control." This rule means pretty much what those words imply — that the driver should have his car under such degree of control as to be ready for any emergencies as might arise. It may be breached even though no violation of ordinary traffic laws is involved.

For instance, a driver may be complying with the legal speed limit but still be driving at a rate of speed which is unsafe under the existing circumstances.

Even though legal speed limits are expressed in terms of a certain number of miles per hour, conditions may arise which prevent the driver from maintaining "proper control" of his automobile at that speed. On a rainy day on a slick street or highway, or in heavy traffic, the reasonably prudent driver will know that he should reduce his speed considerably below the legal maximum.

SOME CRUST!

He was unpacking his lunch. All the fellows were watching as he unwrapped a parcel about 18 inches long.

"My wife was too busy," he explained, "so I made a pie myself."

"Gee," came back one of the onlookers, "It's a bit long, ain't it?"

"Certainly it's long. Why shouldn't it be — it's rhubarb pie."

Mae West, famous actress: "The man I don't like doesn't exist."

A well-known comedian protests that he is always being told one of his own stories. A clear case of the tale dogging the wag.

Henry Merritt Wriston, author: "The world today is not so much in need of skill as of character."

Deviled Ham Puts Spice and Zip in New Gelatin Salads

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

EVER try using canned deviled ham in molded gelatin salads? Do try it sometime, and you'll be delighted with the novel results.

Here are two brand-new recipes. All our family enjoyed them, and we hope you will, too.

Red Devil Gelatin Mold
(Makes 6 servings)

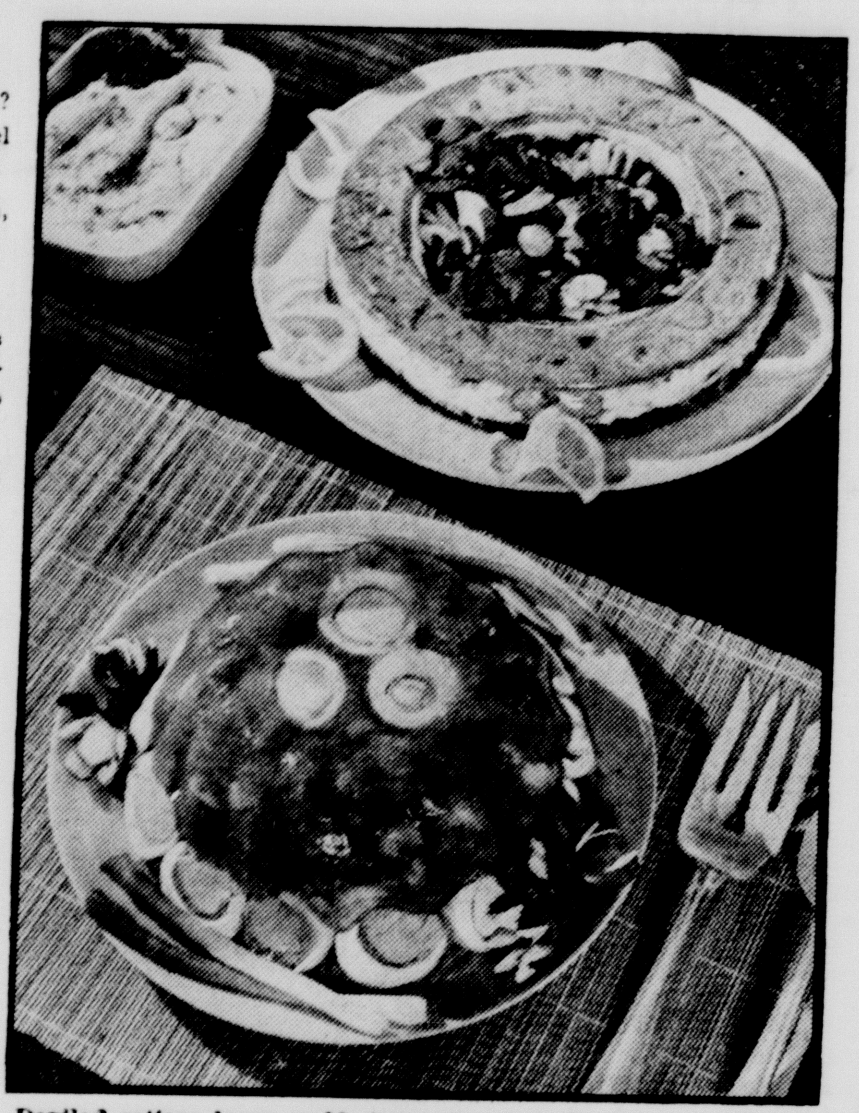
One package lime or lemon gelatin dessert, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons regular or wine vinegar, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 family size (4½-oz.) can deviled ham, ½ cup diced celery, 4 hard-cooked eggs.

Prepare gelatin as directed on package and stir in seasonings. Chill. When nearly thickened, stir in deviled ham, celery and 2 chopped eggs. Cut remaining 2 eggs in slices and arrange in oiled mold. Spoon in gelatin so that egg-slice design is not disturbed. Fill mold and chill in refrigerator until firm. To serve, unmold on large plate and garnish with carrot curls, radish roses and slices of lemon.

Deviled Cottage Layer Mold
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

One package lime or lemon gelatin dessert, 1 tablespoon minced onion, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, pinch black pepper, 1 8-oz. container cottage cheese, 1 family size (4½-oz.) deviled ham, 4 radishes, sliced, 1 small green pepper, diced.

Prepare gelatin as directed on package. Stir in seasonings and chill until nearly thickened. Spoon layer of seasoned gelatin mixture in bottom of ring mold and let set until firm. Mix together cottage cheese, deviled ham and cut-up vegetables. Spread on layer of set gelatin. Pat cheese-ham mixture down to make it smooth and even, then spoon on remaining gelatin mixture to make a third layer. Chill in refrigerator until firm. To serve, unmold on large plate and fill center with mixed salad greens, dressing or relishes.



Deviled cottage layer mold, top and red devil gelatin mold are two hearty salads which are ideal to serve almost any time.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

President Eisenhower is being urged by White House aides to make a television speech about once a month. They argue that not only do the talks have political appeal but also they are needed to quiet public fears in this period of growing world tension.

Mr. Eisenhower did not go as far as some of his aides would have liked in his recent speech. His original notes called for a more emphatic appeal for a Republican Congress than the President actually made. The notes also contained more criticism of Democrats than the final address.

Mr. Eisenhower followed his own insincts when he vetoed the federal-pay-raise bill. He had been advised that it would be politically unwise to veto the measure, but the President brushed aside this advice on the theory that it's good politics to stick by principles.

Leaders of both political parties are more worried about the size of the vote in the coming congressional elections than anything else. They are concerned about the apathy of voters shown in primary elections and are afraid it will carry over into the elections themselves.

Stephen Mitchell, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is not getting much support from other Democratic leaders in his persistent attacks on Mr. Eisenhower and the private power contract in the Tennessee Valley area. These leaders think Mr. Mitchell is far off base, politically, on this question.

Sherman Adams, the Assistant to the President, is being criticized in some quarters for trying to take a hand in State politics. Politicians are complaining to Mr. Eisenhower that inter-party affairs are local business, of no concern to the White House.

Senator Paul Douglas (Dem.), of Illinois, expects support from some prominent people in the Citizens for Eisenhower group in that State. Several members of this organization, while backing the President, are opposed to some of the views of Joseph T. Meek, Senator Douglas's Republican opponent.

The next Congress is to receive increased pressure from the armed forces for restoring fringe benefits to servicemen and to raise their pay. The Air Force estimates that each 1 per cent rise in the re-enlistment rate means a saving of 100 million dollars over a four-year enlistment period. Increased benefits would be expected to raise the re-enlistment rate.

Some Army planners are dissatisfied with present arrangements with the Air Force for tactical support of ground troops. Suggestions have been made to transfer this function to Navy Air, on the ground that Army-Navy co-operation in amphibious operations shows that those two services work together better than do the Army and Air Force.

Premier Mendes-France, of France, went to England primarily to sell Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill on a plan to bring Britain actively into a continental defense alliance as a substitute for the European Defense Community. The British Prime Minister firmly refused to assist in torpedoing the proposal for a European Army.

U. S. military commanders in the Far East are inclined to doubt that Russia would enter any conflict that might involve Communist Chinese forces against the U. S. The same leaders also oppose fighting any more peripheral wars instigated by Red China.

Pentagon leaders are gravely concerned over the impasse in EDC. They reason that Western Europe cannot be defended without participation by both Germany and France in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. So military men insist that some formula must be found to get Germany and France together.

Secretary Dulles is not willing to sign as binding a pact in the Southeast Asia defense treaty as the NATO Treaty for Western Europe. At the Manila Conference, the U. S. delegation will hold out for more flexibility in SEATO than there is in NATO. U. S. military leaders do not want their hands tied too tightly by treaty in the Pacific.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff are believed by military analysts to have been given more discretion than any other U. S. military leaders have ever had in dealing with the defense of Formosa. Secretary Dulles says it is entirely up to them to decide what islands to defend against possible Chinese attack.

Mme. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, sister of Prime Minister Nehru of India, is losing out in a backstage political squabble at home. Now President of the United Nations Assembly, Mme. Pandit is to be replaced as head of India's delegation by V. K. Krishna Menon. Mr. Menon often is friendly to the Communist line.

Let's Keep The Record Straight

By J. A. HILL

This is being written on the afternoon of election day so that it cannot be charged with political motivation. Also, the writer should like for it to be understood that he speaks for himself only. He has neither sought nor received advice from any source whatsoever.

The purpose of this article is to correct a couple of factual errors that went out over the signatures of some 21 reputable citizens representing nine Panhandle towns and addressed, it was said, to some 20,000 ex-students of West Texas State College and others, in the interest of Governor Shivers. Also it was published in at least one newspaper. The signers were as good citizens as Texas has and almost everyone of them is a warm personal friend of this writer. But the prominence and integrity of these gentlemen do not minify the evil effects of the misstatement of facts. On the other hand, the standing of these five citizens magnifies the offense against truth.

Because statements from such sources have a way of getting into permanent records, this correction is here offered for the benefit of present and future generations and in no way is intended to reflect upon the integrity of these friends of mine. Here is my case.

In the last week of the campaign now closing the "West Texas School Committee for Allan Shivers" addressed a letter "To Our Teacher Friends" which concluded with the following sentence: "This statement of Governor Shivers' record is being sent in the interest of the truth by the following West Texans." Then follows the twenty-one names, all of whom are identified by their educational relationships and most of them are or have been prominently connected with West Texas State, its Ex-Students Association and/or the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

One sentence from that letter reads: "New buildings and permanent improvements costing over $1,500,000 have been completed or are under way on the West Texas State campus." Taken in its context it can mean but one thing and that is that Governor Shivers brought about this vast expansion. If this is not its purpose, what is the point in mentioning it?

The facts as known by thousands of people in the Panhandle do not support that position. Some of the members of that committee, if they had stopped to think, would have remembered that in the spring of 1947, more than two years before Shivers became Governor, the legislature submitted to the people of Texas a constitutional amendment providing for the transfer of 5 cents of the Confederate pension tax to a fund for buildings at state colleges. This amendment was approved by a vote of the people in August, 1947, and made available to West Texas State more than $1,000,000 for the decade to end January 1, 1958, and comparable amounts for each of the next two decades. The amount being spent above this constitutional amendment money is provided by the sale of revenue bonds, which means that the college owes for them and the indebtedness will be paid off by the students. No Governor or any other public official now or hereafter can divert any of this plant improvement money from its present use for plant expansion nor determine what kind of buildings to erect or when. Only another constitutional amendment can do that. The present Governor no doubt has done a lot of good things, but this plant improvement feature at all state colleges doesn't happen to be one of them. Is this not right, fellows?

The letter's next sentence after the above quotation says: "The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum has received $161,800 in itemized state support during the five years of Governor Shivers' administration. It had received no direct appropriation whatever during the previous twenty-eight years of its existence." By the side of that statement I should like to place these facts of record.

1. The first state appropriation ever made for the use and benefit of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society was signed by Governor Ross Sterling in the sum of $25,000. It was engineered through the legislature by Clyde Warwick, Clint Small, and Lee Satterwhite, and was widely publicized at the time. That was somewhere near the time that Mr. Shivers cast his first ballot. Sterling's name is on the cornerstone of the museum.

2. During the depression the legislature at different times appropriated small sums to West Texas State to match WPA funds. The museum got its share of this money, be it ever so small.

3. In the spring of 1947 the legislature, thanks to Senator Grady Hazlewood, appropriated $10,000 for the museum for each year of the following biennium. Governor Beauford Jester signed it. For proof examine the Fourteenth Annual Report of the State Board of Control.

4. Since September 1, 1928, West Texas State College has contributed out of its Local Funds (student fees and other local revenues) the sum of $32,803.89 to the museum. Verification of this statement is found in a financial statement from the Business Office of the College under date of June 12, 1954. The minutes of the Historical Society from February 5, 1921, to September 1, 1928, indicate that the College (the state) just about kept the Society going for these beginning years.

It may be argued that Local Funds are not state money, but the Attorney General has held otherwise and in the last five years has begun requiring all such funds to be put into the state treasury. If this had been the practice during the Society's first twenty years, there would be no nuseum on West Texas State campus—that is, unless the Society had found a Santa Claus somewhere else.

Now, Folks, I am not trying to embarrass the good men who signed that unfortunate letter. I don't like to embarrass my friends. Nor am I seeking to detract from Governor Shivers' laurels. He was not responsible, I am sure, for the misinformation that was so widely circulated. And surely he would regret that the College, the Ex-Students Association, and the Historical Society, each of which is doing a magnificent job, but each of which needs all the friends it can get, should be brought into bitter partisan politics. It all goes to show how easy it is for even good people to make mistakes in the heat of political battle. In such ways the reputation of each candidate has suffered irreparable damage and regardless of who is elected today each candidate will carry the odor of a political polecat from here on. Let's keep the record straight and keep our public institutions out of political rows.

"With malice toward none and charity for all," to quote a good Republican, I am,

Sincerely yours,
J. A. Hill

P.S. The writer's History of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and its museum is near completion and will contain as full and well authenticated financial statement of that institution as can be made from available records.

Golden Anniversary Of Rotary Will Be Observed in 1955

The Golden Anniversary of Rotary International will be observed by the Canyon Rotary Club between Feb. 23 and June 2, according to Joe Hill, who was in charge of the program of the local club Tuesday.

The Board of Directors of Rotary International have been planning for three years for the observation of the birthday anniversary. Not every club could possibly carry out all of the suggestions made, but there is enough latitude to suit the demands of every club.

Fifty years ago, an ideal was born. Today it is in existence in 89 free nations of the world, with 8000 clubs having been organized. The Canyon Club in the average size.

The golden anniversary program is for two purposes: To increase the meaning of Rotary to Rotarians; and to increase the public's understanding and appreciation of Rotary.

The local committee has made the following recommendations to the Canyon Rotary Club: Organize a speakers bureau on Rotary; provide more and better publicity; every Rotarian active in support of the Golden Anniversary program; many more Canyon Rotarians at the District Conference in Midland; promote more inspirational meetings on Rotary; many Canyon Rotarians at the Rotary International convention in June; local members visiting every Rotary Club in the district this year; keep some project going throughout the year; promote the ideal of Rotary, "Service above self."

Pierre Jacquet of France expressed his appreciation for the fine reception given him during his stay. He hopes to return to Canyon at some future day.

Seventeen visitors were present.

(By Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick)

I, for one, am glad the election is over and I hope we never have another one like this. Even in Texas where we are noted for "hot" political races, this one was "too hot." I cannot help but think that an office that carries the high dignity of Governor of a state like Texas should be sought on a higher scale than this last election was.

Well, we lived through Jim Ferguson, "Ma" Ferguson, "Pappy" O'Daniel and I guess we'll live through this. If we must have campaigns like this, and I'm wondering if we must, I prefer "Pappy's Pass the Biscuits."

The "flying saucers" are back. Now two women who were picking berries in the woods claim they saw and tried to talk with a man whom they could not make understand, but who took them into some shrubs where he had hid his saucer, that he showed it to them and then got in it and took off.

Then this from Waukegan, Ill.: "We have reason to believe that saucer people understand the International Morse Code, and that in some way they will contact us. We mean friendly saucer people.

That's the purpose of Jack Maynard's earthlings who beam messages toward Mars. Their howdy to saucerland goes something like this:

"We are an organized group of friendly earth people trying to communicate with you, the friendly saucer people. We are the Great Lakes UFO Association."

Mr. and Mrs. Pettitt have moved from her mother's home which they kept while Mrs. Lockhart was gone for the last three years, to 801 West 6th.

Mrs. Felix Pierce has returned from Los Angeles where she was called by the death of her sister's husband, Mr. Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hand and daughter, Margaret, have returned from a trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota and Estes Park in Colo. Mr. Hand said his grandfather was a rancher and ran cattle up to the Black Hills and while most of his youth was spent there he never appreciated their beauty until he had to ride all the way from Texas to see them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barker and daughters, Anna Marie and Marcia, have returned from a trip which included Taos, Las Vegas, N. M., Raton, Red River, Santa Fe, and Colorado Springs.

It is said that the average cost of one year in college today is $1,356. The average tuition fees and books cost $469; room and board $587; and incidentals cost $300.

Billy Graham says: "A lot of people say that church is dull, monotonous, tiresome. But that's not the reason we go to church. We go to church to worship God. No matter whether the sermon is poor and the music is poor, we go to sit in an atmosphere of God with other people."

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brasher and son, Charles, have returned from a trip to the west coast and Canada. On their trip they visited Coulee Dam, Yosemite Park, Yellowstone National Park, Boulder Dam, and traveled through the Red Wood Forest. They enjoyed every minute of the trip, they said, but were glad to get back to Canyon. Charles said he got tired of the fog and rain and wanted to get back where he could see a little dust. While in Portland the Brashers visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, former residents of Canyon. Mr. Taylor has as his hobby now the raising of roses and Mrs. Brasher said she never saw more beautiful roses than Mr. Taylor had in his yard. The Taylor's son, Charles, is married and lives in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Weichert who have been living in Fort Worth have been transferred back to Canyon. Their address will be 3500 Bristol Road, Amarillo. Mrs. Weichert's mother, Mrs. E. P. Stock, will return with them, and says she hopes to see her Canyon friends soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knighton, who live at 1208 3rd Ave., are building a new home at 2603 7th Ave. It is a three bedroom house of light pink brick trimmed with wood painted grey. The Knightons and their three children, Neal, Genie and Cathy, hope to move into their new home the first or second week of September.

"A man that hath friends must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." Proverbs 18:24.

A new thing to be on the market soon will be dresses cut out, all ready to make. They will have the thread, buttons, zipper and belt, and will be done up in celephane packages where you can see the material and will have a picture of the finished garment. It seems some woman couldn't sleep one night and she conceived the idea.

Mrs. R. A. Terrill brought me a calendar which her daughter, Ada's, pastor sends her every year. He gives this calendar to each member of his church. Each month of the year has several quotations from famous writers. It is called "The Motto Calendar" and was started in 1884. These calendars were the idea of a Philadelphia businessman, a member of the Religious Society of Friends, who conceived this calendar as a method of spreading the simple and practical message of Christianity among people in all walks of life. It was always his wish that the calendars be published anonymously.

In a brief circular distributed with each calendar for the year 1908, just subsequent to the death of the founder, it was stated:

"In memory of this noble Christian life and to carry on his work as a living memorial, his family proposes to continue for the present the publication of The Motto Calendar as heretofore."

This proposal has been carried out for the past 45 years by one of the sons of the founder until his death during this year. Like his father, he lived a very busy life, spending much of his time in philanthropic work of one kind and another, some of it in very useful public service. Beloved by his family and his many friends, gifted with physical vigor, and a keen intellect, this warm and delightful personality tirelessly and cheerfully served his fellow men and his God according to the dictates of his sensitive and well-disciplined conscience. His work on the Motto Calendar was only one of the many ways in which his firm faith in the reality of the spiritual world and his unflagging Christian devotion was revealed.

Now, members of the third generation have undertaken to prepare the calendar, but without any definite assurance that they will be able to continue it acceptable.

The following quotation was taken from this Calendar and Mrs. Terrill is writing to see how copies of it can be secured.

"I expect to pass through this world but once; any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow-creature; let me do it now; let me not defer or neglect it; for I shall not pass this way again." Henry Drummond.

There is a theory that anything will grow in the Panhandle if it is given enough water and Mrs. Ethel Sanford of Plainview has brought another plant to her yard that it was thought would not grow on the Plains. Mrs. Sanford wanted to give her garden a tropical appearance so planted two banana plants this spring. They grew and now have bananas on them which she hopes will ripen before frost. The stalks will have to be cut down this fall, but she hopes they will come up again next spring.

Karen Sue Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Parker, Jr., returned from a trip to Yellowstone Park Friday night with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cole, of Pratt, Kans., and her cousin, Sandra Ruhl, of Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhome Mobley have a new granddaughter born August 20th to their daughter, Mrs. Raby Wallen, of Pettus, Texas. Both mother and daughter are doing fine. The baby has been named Betty Lavonne.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Colwell are in Dallas visiting Mr. Colwell's brother who had a severe heart attack but is much better now.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Davis have returned from a trip to Indianapolis, Ind., where they visited with Mr. Davis's mother and sister, and to New Albany where they visited with other relatives. The Davises went on the new train, the San Francisco Chief, and said it was wonderful. They found it much more comfortable than driving at this time.

HAT MAKING CONTEST AT H. D. DEMONSTRATION

The hat making demonstration put on by the home demonstration club president, Mrs. Leroy Roberts, was well attended. Mrs. Roberts certainly knows her hats and gave extra good demonstrations on making hats from the start to the finished product.

Several began work on their hats but few got theirs finished. Materials used consisted of velvet, jersey, straw cloth, aplaca, and frames covered in velvet leaves which were the easiest to work and attractive. Some intend to make pheasant feather hats. Mrs. Roberts has one partly made that will be beautiful when finished. It was an all day affair with a covered dish luncheon at noon. It was at the school house Friday.

Those attending part or all the time were Mrs. Floyd Adams and niece, Mrs. John Farris, of Montgomery, Alabama, Mrs. I. F. SoRelle of Canyon, Mrs. R. Gidden of Canyon, and Mrs. Park Chamberlain of Clarendon, Mrs. Bessie Lane and daughter, Mrs. George Hancock, Pampa, Mrs. Paul Wetzell, Mrs. Wyatt Heisler, Mrs. Bill Heisler, Mrs. J. S. Hill and Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. Chas. Kennedy, Mrs. W. R. Franklin, Mrs. Lester Bryan, Mrs. Carrol Dean Rogers, Mrs. James Bible, Mrs. A. J. Newsom, Mrs. Melton McGehee, and Miss Joan Hill.

BOYS, GIRLS 4-H CLUBS MEET

The girls and boys 4-H clubs of Armstrong county met at the Wayside school August 26 for a farewell party honoring Mrs. Jo Ann Bannister, their Home Demonstration agent. The party was well attended.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served by the girls. Mrs. Stanley Hill and Mrs. Bill Heisler are the girls' sponsors.

The absent-minded professor was having a physical exam. "Stick out your tongue," ordered the doctor, "and say 'ah'!"

"Ah," said the professor.

"It looks all right," nodded the M. D., "but why the postage stamp?"

"Oh-ho," said the professor. "So that's where I left it."

Methodist Church Is Setting For Samuelson-Ashby Nuptial Vows

MRS. EBERT ASHBY

Miss Anna Lou Samuelson and Ebert A. Ashby exchanged marriage vows in an evening ceremony Friday at 8 o'clock. The Methodist Church, decorated with baskets of white gladiolus, lighted with candelabra each holding seven white tapers made a beautiful setting for the double ring ceremony by Rev. Herschel L. Thurston, pastor of the Methodist Church of Dalhart.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Samuelson of 2200 7th Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ebert Ashby of Dalhart.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white antique taffeta with a decollete neckline outlined with tulle and decorated with appliqued rose medallions encrusted with pearls, with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of tulle was also appliqued with lace roses embroidered with seed pearls and attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid surrounded with stephanotis and white ribbon streamers atop a white prayerbook.

Miss Marjorie Blanton of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pink antique ballerina dress with a boat neckline and carried a bouquet of pink asters.

John Long of Plainview served as best man. Ushers included the bride's two brothers, Bobby and Norris Samuelson, and Garland Parks, Howard Coulter, Hayden Morgan, and Joe Garrett.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Samuelson, wore a blue crepe dress with a white beaded collar and pink accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Ashby, wore a navy blue dress with pink accessories.

Mrs. Glenn Dowlen played as a nuptial prelude "To A Wild Rose," "Serenade," "Clair de Lune," and "Ava Marie." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Mrs. H. R. Fulton sang "I Love You" and "Through the Years."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The hall was decorated with baskets of white gladiolus. The guests were received by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuelson, the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ashby, and the bridal pair, Mr. and Mrs. Ebert Ashby.

Miss Virginia Leake registered the guests and Miss June Davis furnished music. The serving table was laid with a beautiful lace cloth over pink using for the centerpiece the bridesmaid's bouquet of pink asters. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The guests were served cake by Mrs. Clyde Jones, sister of Mrs. Samuelson, and Miss Lou Ella Patterson.

Punch was served by Mrs. Guy Blanton of Amarillo and Mrs. Autry Hodges. Assisting as hostesses were Mrs. O. W. Parker, Jr., Mrs. Iverson Leake, Mrs. Wilford Taylor, Jr., Mrs. M. J. Newman, and Mrs. I. Clyde Davis.

The beautiful three tiered wedding cake was made and decorated by Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Mrs. Autry Hodges, and Mrs. Samuelson.

White napkins with Anna Lou 'n Ebert printed in pink were used at the table.

The bride is a graduate of Canyon High School, a junior at West Texas State College, where she is a member of Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society, Kappa Pi National Art Fraternity, and a member of the Wesley Foundation.

The groom is a graduate of Dalhart High School and a graduate of West Texas State College in 1953. He is a member of Tau Tau Tau fraternity and of Alpha Chi National Honor Society. He taught the first semester of 1953 in the Dumas High School when he was called in the army. The couple will live in Clarendon where Mr. Ashby will teach science in the Clarendon Junior College.

For their honeymoon trip of undisclosed destination the bride wore a navy silk suit with black patent accessories and blue velvet hat.

A rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Iverson Leake on Tuesday evening in the beautiful back yard of the Leakes. The members of the wedding party were guests.

Just Between You, Me . . . . . . and the Gatepost

Betty Huffman and husband James, who is home on leave from the Navy, are visiting her parents in Fort Worth. Almost forgot their daughter, Donna, is also along with them. It's an even greater occasion for the family because of the fact that James has been in the Navy and away from home for several months. If you're one of those people who doesn't believe that absence makes the heart grow fonder ask Betty or Donna about it.

Prospects for a City Park look a little brighter now than at any time in the past. The Chamber of Commerce is working on the park program. Right now they're working on the itemized cost of the various parts of the park. Other steps that will have to be taken are presenting a petition to the Commissioners Court and holding an election. The people of the town will have the last say as to whether or not there is a park. Of course there is lots of work to be done before the election can be offered to the people on the subject.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Roland Black, let out the good news last week that Canyon is to be the city saluted by a Dallas radio station September 12. The program will be aired between 9:30 and 10:00 and the station is KRLD, 1080 on your radio dial. The station is running a series of programs called "KRLD Salutes." Canyon is the town picked for the salute on Sunday, September 12. A tape recording has been prepared by some of the local people. Mayor Hosea Foster will be on the tape with a speech for several minutes. The remainder of the program will be used by the staff at the radio station with their special salute program. Better start looking for KRLD on your radio dial because you don't want to miss this particular program.

This is the time of year when baseball and football sort of give each other that old evil-eye glare. Both are struggling to hold the public's attention. Football is just beginning and baseball is drawing out its final games. Fans are caught in a tug-o-war effect trying to get the world series and at the same time keep up with the beginning of football. It does seem a little unfair to football as baseball season lasts from 20 to 30 weeks and football season only about 12 or 16. Perhaps someday there'll be a reshuffle and the final days of baseball won't blank out the season's first football games.

The City Club's golf tournament begins Sunday. By this time those who are entering the tournament have already had their qualifying scores posted and are getting set for the big event to open Sunday. Art Roberts is one of the workers in the club for the golf tournament and we hope that he and all the players enjoy it very much.

A lot of cinemascope shows are lined up for local movie goers in the month of September. These include, "How To Marry a Millionaire," "Ring of Fear," "Demetrius and the Gladiators," and "The Black Shield." All of these shows are given a 10 or better rating in the movie's Review Digest. The highest rating given any movie by the Review Digest is 14 plus. W. J. Wooten and Charles Donnell also have some wonderful shows in mind for the public during the month of October.

4,400 Children Killed in Car Wrecks in 1953

"A total of 4,400 children under 15 years old were killed in traffic last year," said Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association.

He said that this terrible child death toll in itself would be reason enough for the child traffic safety program which his group is sponsoring this month in Texas in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"But the number of fatalities is only part of the picture," he said. "In addition, approximately 225,000 children were injured in traffic accidents in 1953, according to the National Safety Council."

Many of these injuries, Col. Tilley pointed out, will leave the youthful victims maimed or scarred for life.

"There is no quick, easy remedy for this deplorable situation on our streets and highways," he said.

"Instead, it will take a long range program of public education to bring about a lasting improvement. Motorists must come to realize their responsibility for the lives of unpredictable children and must exercise extra caution when driving in areas where youngsters may be walking or playing. And parents, too, must be made to understand the serious danger involved, and teach their children safety precautions.

"Many people today do not realize that traffic is the number one killer of children between the ages of one and 14.

"Traffic accidents kill more children in this age group than any one of the highly-publicized childhood diseases," Col. Tilley said.

Figures for 1951, the most recent year for which complete statistics are available, show that for the one to 14 age group, there were 3,888 deaths due to motor vehicle accidents," he said.

"This was five times as many child deaths as were caused the same year by polio, and three times as many as were caused by tuberculosis. There were 800 fewer deaths from pneumonia and 600 fewer from cancer, in all its forms, than from traffic accidents in this age group."

He said that if we are to improve this tragic situation we all will need to remember and act on the traffic safety slogan being featured this month in the program of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council: "Watch Out for kids."

FRIENDS ENTERTAIN HONOR MRS. MONTFORT, MISS SMITH

Mrs. Tommie Montfort and her sister, Miss Angie Smith, have been honored by many of their friends since it became known a short time ago that they are leaving Canyon.

Miss Mae Simmons had them as her dinner guests, and to their surprise they were asked to go to the home of Miss Isabel Robinson for dessert; when they arrived they found themselves surrounded by friends and with Miss Robinson and Miss Simmons as hostesses the group enjoyed the dessert and the delight of the honorees when identical gifts for use in their new home were presented.

Miss Graham was their hostess at a dinner, and Mrs. Mary Bailey entertained them in the same way. Mrs. T. V. Reeves gave them a breakfast, and Miss Agnes Charlton had a dinner in their honor. Miss Hattie M. Anderson and Miss Isabel Robinson invited intimate friends to luncheon with them.

Their last night in Canyon was spent in the Fronabarger home. On Saturday both Mrs. Montfort and Miss Smith left for Crane, Texas, where Mrs. Montfort will be a member of the high school English department. Crane has a new, beautifully equipped high school building, and Mrs. Montfort will teach four classes in English.

MRS. McCASLIN HONORED WITH GARDEN PARTY SATURDAY

Mrs. Nancy McCaslin, who recently retired from the dormitory staff of West Texas State College, was the guest of honor at a garden party Saturday evening with Mrs. Dan Usery and Mrs. T. V. Reeves as hostesses.

For a time the interest centered around the fireplace and food; later the guests enjoyed the beauty of the evening and much conversation. Present were Mrs. McCaslin, Mrs. Mary Sligar, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Mrs. Hattie Brasuel, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Jones, Miss Mae Simmons and the hostesses.

Mrs. McCaslin and Mrs. Sligar are living at 2000 Eighth Avenue, in the home Mrs. Sligar recently purchased.

Right of Way Varies at the Intersections

Misunderstanding of simple driving rules by numerous motorists is one factor which places Texas right at the top in number of traffic deaths. Possibly the most mystifying of all traffic rules to the average driver are those relating to "Right of Way" at an intersection.

In trying to understand the laws regulating intersecting traffic, it is best to start off with the premise that all streets are of equal dignity, legally speaking. Traffic signs and signals may vary this rule somewhat, but when in doubt it is safest to assume that all drivers crossing your path have a claim to the right of way equal to your own.

Obviously, however, in many cases one driver or the other will be legally entitled to the right of way. When it becomes necessary to determine right of way in a particular situation, the driver who reaches the intersection first, or who is going to get there first, is ordinarily favored.

But when two automobiles are an equal distance from the intersection, that one approaching from the other driver's right normally has the right of way.

Some intersections are known as "courtesy corners," having a stop sign or a flashing red signal facing each direction of approach. The first driver reaching the corner and coming to a complete stop will normally have the right of way over other vehicles not already in the intersection. However, don't depend too much on the other fellow's courtesy, and be sure to keep a "proper lookout" and your car under "proper control" as explained in a preceding column.

At intersections involving one through street and another street having a stop sign, a driver approaching the stop sign and coming to a full stop is ordinarily said to have the right of way over vehicles approaching on the through street but not already in the intersection.

However, this last rule must be qualified by saying that you should not proceed, cross or turn onto the through street until you can do so without interfering with oncoming traffic. In other words, if an approaching car will arrive within the intersection before you are completely clear, wait just a little longer. The same rules apply to entering a highway from a side road containing a stop sign.

Many drivers violate the rules of right of way covering left-hand turns at intersections. When turning left, you should always be on the inside (or center) lane, displaying the proper hand signal. You must allow all cars coming from the opposite direction, already in the intersection, to pass through before completing your turn. Even when the intersection is cleared, do not proceed unless other oncoming traffic is far enough away to be able to see your signal and slow down to allow you to turn with safety to all concerned.

Stay in the inside lane until your left-hand turn is entirely completed, and only then move gradually over to the right-hand lane if you wish. When turning right, stay in the right-hand lane at all times. Do not swing wide into the center lane, as to do so is unnecessary, unlawful and dangerous.

Many detailed rules and suggestions for safe driving are included in the official "Texas Driving Handbook" which is available to any person requesting same

In our town, the dogs have had their day. Until a few weeks ago, they roamed at will, barking at the milkman, threatening the postman, and nipping happily at pants legs of ordinary passers-by.

The dogs who live in our block were a clannish lot. They had "bosses," "best friends," bitter rivals and outright enemies, both human and canine. The unfriendly ones set up property lines and, if an enemy crossed, it meant the battle was joined. Like their supposedly wiser masters, they enjoyed the ups-and-downs of a close-knit community life.

But dogs live by an unwritten law while man lives by whole books or written ones — some kept and others broken. So the milkman, and the postman, and the ordinary passers-by got together one day and voted away the liberties of their four-legged fellows.

Now the neighborhood is a much quieter place for an evening walk. Bones no longer clutter the front lawn. And the alleys are not strewn with paper wrappings, egg-shells, and orange hulls several times a week.

The ragged armies of dogdom are now lonely pets, dependent on their masters for companionship and fun. The aging brown-and-white cocker, who lives next door, entertains himself by reproducing the high, forlorn wail of the ambulance siren each time it passes within blocks of the place. Already overweight, he eats greedily at his one meal a day. The puppy to the east of our house tires of his leash soon after dawn and sets up a plaintive whine to call his young master to his side.

In the past we have envied the tax-free dogs of our town their happy-go-lucky existence. Now for the first time we know what is meant by "leading a dog's life."

Athlete's Foot Is One Most Common Skin Diseases

AUSTIN: The common disease, popularly known as athlete's foot, is said to be the third most common disease seen by skin specialists during the summer, and the fifth most common disorder in winter. It is due to a little mold-like growth or fungus which thrives best where there is moisture and warmth. Therefore, the feet make an ideal place for the growth of this germ.

"To have athlete's foot, the infection must be gotten either directly or indirectly from someone else," states Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. "The most common places to contract the infection are around shower rooms, baths or bath houses, locker rooms, and other public places where persons go barefoot. And it is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

The following measures have been suggested for preventing and avoiding recurrent attacks of athlete's foot:

1. After bathing, dry carefully and thoroughly the space between the toes.
2. Liberally apply a plain, unscented talcum to those areas and sprinkle it freely in socks, stockings, and shoes.
3. Wear properly fitting hose, that are absorbent but not too coarse.
4. Wear shoes that are not too tight, nor too large. They should fit the foot comfortably.

The nation's corn crop this season is expected to be 2,824,078,000 bushels. This estimate is almost 500,000,000 bushels less than the estimate made in July in Agriculture Department officials. Drouth has plagued the crop in some important growing areas, the Department report stated.

For a Year of Work, a Day of Rest . .

Receiving the tribute of a grateful nation this Labor Day are the millions of America's workers in all phases of labor—indoor, outdoor, office or shop, above the ground, on the ground and under the ground. All combine to make America the world's greatest nation and a land of opportunity for all working men and women. In union with the entire country, we offer our "Thanks."

Citizens Asked to Ponder Benefits of Social Security

On the day annually dedicated to labor — Labor Day — workers will find it to the advantage of themselves and their families to think about the vital relationship old-age and survivors insurance may have to their financial well-being.

First, it should be remembered that social security is a family insurance, intended for the protection of the worker's family, as well as the worker himself. Since it is bought and paid for out of the wages of the wage earner, together with the contributions of his employer, the whole family should know about it and be prepared to consult a social security office in event of the death of the breadwinner, regardless of his or her age.

Monthly checks are often lost to individuals and families who do not file claims within the required time. These losses, which usually can never be recovered, have, in some cases, amounted to large sums. A fully informed family understanding the necessity to visit a social security office in the event of death of the worker, is not likely to lose monthly benefit checks.

Workers 65 and still working should inquire at a social security office for full information before they take the final step of retirement. Under the new law, which went into effect January 1, 1951, there have been changes which make it highly desirable to first get official information from social security offices in order that retirement, when it suits the worker to retire, shall be at the most financially advantageous time for him.

So, on Labor's great day the observance can be made practical and valuable to the worker and his whole family if these simple suggestions are observed.

The chief trouble with this country is too darned many legal ways to steal.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Attention Cattlemen

Not long ago, a gentleman came into my office and wanted to discuss Alaska beef producing potentialities with me. He knew I was from Texas, and he saw the Hereford hide on the wall so, no doubt, he concluded that he would have a willing ear.

About the time the conversation got started good, the bells rang and I had to leave him in order to get to the House in time for that day's session. He promised to write me a letter about it, and sure enough he did. It is very interesting, and I wish I could put the entire letter in this letter, as I know you cattle people would enjoy it.

This man, his wife and four children, have been growing and marketing farm products since 1942. The father went up in 1941 to Alaska, and the family followed the next year. He tells me that they are meeting with great success and want to expand.

He tells me that there are several islands involved that are warmed by the Japanese current and sheltered by the Alaskan peninsula. That only occasional snowfalls occur and quickly disappear so that the cattle range out and thrive unsheltered in the wild state all the year round. The average winter temperatures are 20 degrees to 42 degrees Fahrenheit, and the average summer temperatures are 35 degrees to 54 degrees F., with three degrees F. the coldest recorded and 80 degrees F. the highest recorded. He also says that from July through December, the natural range grasses furnish beef carcasses able to compete with beef shipped in from the states, and that with a minimum of expense, grass silage can be provided to enable furnishing beef fit for market all the year. There is an ample constant flow of fresh water, seaweed on the beaches for salt and mineral, and very little fencing is needed. There are no predators or poisonous weeds on the islands.

The main market centers are Fairbanks, which serves about 37,000 people, and Anchorage, serving about 90,000 people.

He wants to interest some other fellows in this project so that the operations can be measurably expanded and will be glad to go into detail with anyone who might be interested. He will be glad to send full data concerning the weather, soil and grass analysis, market volume and prices, references, etc., or will make a personal visit to discuss the matter in full.

If anyone wants to go into the cattle business in Alaska, I will be glad to give you this man's name and address. I never saw him before he came into my office, but was impressed by his love for cattle and his apparent knowledge of Alaska.

I hope to get loose here sometime around the first of September or shortly thereafter. The family was a little upset at me because we did not get to spend the summer in Texas, but they all understand that the late adjournment of Congress makes it almost impossible to get them down there and back before school starts.

When the Rogers tribe starts across the country, what with having to stop at every other filling station, it takes about five to five and one-half days to make the trip each way. That doesn't leave much time to say hello to your friends when you only have about 15 days for the entire trip.
